Only One Coal Mine Fatality In Saline County During '55

About Town And Country

Old Farmer's Almanac Says We're Having Tough Winter

WEATHER REPORT: We are right now in a period of snow, rain and wind. That's right, because I read it in The Old Farmer's 1956 Almanac.

Didn't have to turn far, either. Right there on Page 6 is a full account of what to expect for November and December of 1955 and January, February and March of this year.

And listen to this: "As severe as any winter of the 20th Century." That's what the man says right up there near the top of the page about this year's winter.

But back to that first sentence of this dissertation on The Old Farmer's 1956 Almanac, which reads "We are right now in a period of snow, rain and wind."

The almanac forecasts snow, rain, and wind for the period Jan. 1-11, a cold spell for Jan. 12-22, a thaw for 23-25, and a blizzard for Jan. 26-31.

In case you're interested the first part of February will be cold and stormy, there'll be a cold spell from Feb. 12-16, there'll be rain or snow from the 17th through the 23rd and easterly gales with snow will follow.

I'm going to let you guess about what to expect in March. I could tell you but I won't.

But we might as well go back into November and December to find what kind of weather we had then.

Take last month, Dec. 1-7 was blustery and cold, there were snows from Dec. 8-10, rain and sleet Dec. 11-17 and it was cold—very cold—Dec. 18-31. That's what the almanac says.

And in November: The month was cold and bleak Nov. 1-7, there were bad storms 9-15, there was a mild spell 16-22, a snowstorm Nov. 23-25 and a two-pronged northeast-er Nov. 25-30. Just thought you'd like to know.

OUR LATITUDE. I guess, is somewhere around 37 degrees, although I did not discuss the matter with any learned authority on the matter. Anyhow, it's close enough to let you know that you should plant your early broccoli between March 7 and 30 and your late broccoli between Aug. 1 and 20. That's the time The Farmer's Almanac gives for a latitude of around 39 degrees. And if you want to plant your broccoli during the time the moon is most favorable, plant your early crop between May 17-24 and your late between Aug. 6-13. That sounds plausible, doesn't it?

AND IF YOU'RE interested in how to wash a black lace veil, take a look on Page 48. The book tells you how to do it, 1876 style.

To wash a black lace veil: "Mix bullock's gall with sufficient hot water to make it as warm as you can bear your hand in. Then pass the veil through it. It must be squeezed and not rubbed. It will be well to perfume the gall with a little musk.

"Next rinse the veil through two cold waters, tingeing the last with indigo. Then dry it. Have ready in a pan some stiffening made by pouring boiling water on a small piece of glue. Put the veil into it, squeeze it out, stretch it and clap it.

"Afterwards put it out to dry on a linen cloth, making it very straight and even, and taking care to open and pin the edge very nicely. When dry, iron it on the wrong side, having laid a linen cloth over the ironing blanket. Any article of black lace may be washed in this manner." (From "Etiquette for Ladies," 1876.)

ONE MORE SMALL ITEM: A lady called me to let me know that one bit of interesting information was left out of the dissertation on the 1956 calendar a few days ago. The information: There are 33 Sundays in 1956. Looks like the preachers ought to get time and a half pay for that 53rd Sunday.

None by Sahara, Carmac, Blue Bird, Peabody

Stonefort Corp. Had Only Death During the Year

A survey today showed that there were no fatalities at the operations of the Sahara, Blue Bird, Peabody, Carmac and Saxton coal operations in this area during the year 1955. Stonefort Corp. had one fatality.

Announcement came from the Sahara Coal Co. offices here that the company operated its No. 5 and No. 16 slope mines, its No. 8 strip mine and its washer without a fatality during the past year, the first year this has happened since 1928.

Sahara last year employed about 600 men at the four operations, the men working approximately 1,100,000 man hours and mining an estimated 1,750,000 tons of coal.

Last fatality in a Sahara mine was Dec. 18, 1954.

2,300 Employees in 1955
In 1955 the company, then the O'Garra Coal Co., mined 1,500,000 tons of coal with 2,300 men employed.

The Blue Bird company operates its No. 8 mine with 120 men employed just over the county line in Williamson county and works about 25 men at its No. 6 washer.

The Peabody Coal Co. operated No. 43 mine in Brushy township during 1955, working 200 men there a total of 276,000 man hours. It also operated a drier plant at Harco acreage, 18 men who worked 20,000 man hours.

Incidentally, the drier plant ceased operation Dec. 30. Some equipment will be taken to other mines, the remaining sold as salvage. The 18 employees will be used in the dismantling operations.

The coal preparation plant at Harco has not been in operation for some time, the Peabody 43 coal being sold raw to power plants.

Stress Safety, Halberstam Says
At Saxton Coal company's strip operation between Carrier Mills and Stonefort, 40 men were employed during the year without fatality.

Carmac mine, which is situated in Williamson county but which mined coal under Saline county acreage since 1955, reported that it had no fatalities during the year.

The Stonefort Corporation's Will Scarlett mine near Stonefort, which is a Williamson county operation, reported that it had one fatality, last June. The mine employs 110.

Plans Nearing Completion for March of Dimes

Plans for the annual March of Dimes campaign in Saline county are rapidly being completed, with many activities under consideration, Chairman A. M. Hetherington stated today.

The campaign officially began Tuesday, Jan. 3, and will continue through Jan. 31.

Coin containers and counter cards are being distributed in Harrisburg by Chairman R. C. "Stopper" Adams, cards are in the mail to all county residents and school children will receive their "dime cards" before the end of the week, Hetherington said.

Mrs. Joe Boyke of Harrisburg headed the committee to prepare and mail cards in the county.

Organizations that have completed plans for their part in the fund-raising campaign include the American Legion, VFW, PTA, Home Bureau and the Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was stated.

Theme of this year's March of Dimes campaign is "Polio Isn't Licked Yet." It is pointed out that approximately 30,000 Americans were stricken with polio during 1955 and that 68,000 patients still require medical care as the result of having been afflicted with polio at some earlier time.

Actress Grace Kelly to Wed Prince Rainier of Monaco

NEW YORK (U-P)—Prince Rainier III of Monaco announced his engagement to actress Grace Kelly today through his office in Monte Carlo. Even close friends were caught by surprise.

The glamorous couple, who held hands until the wee hours this morning in a New York night club, hid out from questioners even after the announcement came from Monte Carlo.

"I have no statement to make," said golden-haired Miss Kelly thru her secretary. Until Wednesday, even her studio officials had no idea any serious romance was brewing. They kept secret their Christmas rendezvous with her family in Philadelphia.

Prince Rainier, 32, who arrived here Dec. 16 and denied he had come to seek a wife, left the apartment of Charles Munroe, his host, early and could not be reached. Presumably he was with the 25-year-old film star who is a socialite in her own right. At Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly, parents of the film star, confirmed their daughter's engagement.

The parents said the prince and their daughter would be present at a lunch this afternoon at the Philadelphia Country Club at which a formal announcement would be made.

The couple first met last year when Miss Kelly was making a movie in Monte Carlo.

The 22,000 subjects of Prince Rainier's 37-acre principality have been keenly interested in his marrying and settling down. If he died without an heir, the principality would revert to France under a treaty concluded during World War I.

Then they would have to pay taxes and serve in the army—duties they now escape.

Miss Kelly is believed to be the first American girl who will occupy a European throne.

Historical Backgrounds Important to Progress, Durham Tells County Society

"The Values of Historical Background" was the subject of an interesting talk given by Ray Durham at the January meeting of the Saline County Historical society.

Mr. Durham began his talk by referring to Abraham of Ur of the Chaldees. He related that Abraham's background was such that it fitted him to follow the directions of Jehovah and to become the father of the chosen race. Abraham's father before him had been given a similar chance but lacking sufficient background he stopped by the wayside and it forgotten in history.

Mr. Durham explained that it would be utterly impossible to trace, step by step, historic backgrounds that led all those that followed. Because of this he asked his audience to consider with him next Alexander the Great who probably did more for the civilized world than anyone except the carpenter's son of Nazareth. Alexander and his armies conquered the Mediterranean world but he was unable to conquer the fever he encountered. In the prime of his life his body was left one thousand miles from home—his lack of background led to his ultimate defeat.

England Follows Backgrounds
Napoleon conquered much of the world of his time but he could not conquer the snows of Russia. He lacked the background which would have led him to another victory.

England, Mr. Durham explained, has had the good sense and tenacity to follow the backgrounds laid down for them. It was this tenacity which helped develop the idea that "There will always be an England."

Washington's background fitted him for the task of shaping the infant Democracy in America. Lincoln preserved that democracy but he had to win a war to do it.

Set Dates to Sign Up for ACP Program
The Agricultural Conservation program for 1956 is available to all farmers. It is designed to accomplish additional soil conservation by assisting farmers with part of the cost of carrying out certain approved practices.

Conservation will pay good dividends. It is essential to the future prosperity and strength of the nation.

The sign-up period extends from Jan. 1 to Feb. 17, 1956. Scheduled sign-up dates in the townships will be held as follows: Jan. 9 at the Cottage Grove township for Cottage Grove; Brushy township for Cottage Grove; Brushy and Sulphur Springs church for Mountain township; Jan. 10 at the Eldorado city hall for Eldorado; township at Galatia for Galatia; and township at Mitchellville for Independence township; Jan. 11 township at Rector for Rector; and township at Tate for Tate township; Jan. 12 township at Raleigh for Raleigh; township at Long Branch for Long Branch and town hall at Carrier Mills for Carrier Mills; Jan. 16 city hall, Harrisburg for Harrisburg and township at Stonefort for Stonefort.

The places will be open at 8 a. m. and close at 4 p. m. Both county committeemen and community committeemen will be on hand to explain the program to each farmer and sign the form plan for 1956.

Mr. Durham asked the society to span the years to the birth of the Illinois Territory. He explained that the immigrants to this section from the Carolinas, Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee lacked the backgrounds that would enable them to advance as rapidly as other sections of the State. He showed that the hardy Yankee that invaded the northern part of the state and the Pennsylvania Dutch that went to central Illinois were more fortunate in possessing those backgrounds that led to their more rapid development.

Future Is Bright
He said this lack of background and ideas had caused a lag in agriculture, education, and institutions in this section. He hastened to add that courageous individuals, through precept and example had helped us to finally develop these backgrounds; that Ford through his ingenious invention led us across country to see and finally realize our shortcomings; and to finally set for ourselves the task of development which we are continuing.

Backgrounds must be there—if they are not they must be developed. There must be backgrounds of ideas, and backgrounds of ideals. They must be cherished, referred to, and relied upon. It seems that we are not creatures of our environments but creatures of environments that have been made for us. Our progress has been deterred but our future is bright because we have lifted ourselves by our own bootstraps. We must constantly remember that it is only three generations from shirt-sleeves to riches and back to shirt-sleeves; and that common sense and tenacity must be our guides, Mr. Durham concluded.

The president, Louis Aaron, thanked the Society for its cooperation during his two years as president and expressed the hope that this cooperation be extended to the new officers. He then appointed a nominating committee composed of John Foster, Paul Hatfield, William Farley, and Mrs. Ada Reese to report at the February meeting.

After an enjoyable social hour in charge of Mrs. James Bond, Mrs. Paul Hatfield, and Mrs. R. C. Davenport the meeting adjourned.

Husband of Only a Week Begins Slow Recovery from Amnesia; Recognizes Wife
PLACERVILLE, Calif. (U-P)—A husband of one week slowly began recovering today from an attack of amnesia that had blotted out the memory of his romance and marriage.

Ronald Evenson, 27, a student at Colorado School of Mines, Wednesday night recognized his wife, Debra Lee, 24, to whom earlier in the day he had mumbled, "I don't know you."

Evenson and his wife were married in La Junta, Colo., on Dec. 28 and went to San Francisco for their honeymoon. Early Monday morning, he complained of feeling ill. He disappeared from their honeymoon suite.

On Tuesday night, a truck driver almost ran over Evenson on a snow covered mountain highway. Highway patrolmen brought him to Placerville Sanitarium, half-conscious and incoherent.

His wife came here from San Francisco. Evenson stared at her without knowing who she was. She became almost hysterical with grief. Later, she vowed to stay by his bedside until he recovered.

Dr. L. E. Shortes said, "Evenson is recovering. He has begun to remember quite a bit of his background and he has recognized his wife."

"Some emotional shock—what it was I don't know—brought on this amnesia. He doesn't remember a thing from the time he got into the car (early Monday morning) until Wednesday afternoon."

Shortes said he was not present when Evenson first recognized his wife, but was at Evenson's bedside shortly after. He said Evenson did not show much affection "because he was still too far under" but that Mrs. Evenson "smiled and seemed radiantly happy."

Evenson and his wife met last June while they were attending summer classes at the University of Colorado. She teaches school at Sterling, Colo. His father lives in North Mankato, Minn.

W. C. Hendricks And Eldorado Man Die in Auto Crash

A Harrisburg man and an Eldorado man were killed just before noon today in an auto accident near Crossville.

Archie Hiedgath, 30, Eldorado, was killed instantly and William C. Hendricks, 30, Harrisburg, died en route to Carmi hospital. The accident occurred on U. S. 460 a mile east of Crossville.

Authorities have not determined who was driving. The auto first ran off the highway, then came back on the road and collided with an auto driven by Frank Nelson, 39, Decatur, who was seriously injured.

Reds Still Not Ready for Peace, President Says

Five Proposals To Meet New Soviet Tactics

WASHINGTON (U-P)—President Eisenhower warned Congress today that Soviet Russia and Red China continue to pose "a serious threat to the free world."

To meet the two-front Communist challenge, Mr. Eisenhower said in his State of the Union message that the United States must intensify its military, foreign aid and other efforts "to achieve a just peace."

The president said the Big Four foreign ministers meeting at Geneva in October "demonstrated conclusively that the Soviet leaders are not yet willing to create the indispensable conditions for a secure and lasting peace."

He said it was clear that the conflict between international communism and freedom had taken on a new complexion in the past year.

"We know the Communist leaders have often practiced the tactics of retreat and zig-zag," the President said in his annual message. "We know that Soviet and Chinese communism still poses a serious threat to the free world. And in the Middle East recent Soviet moves are hardly compatible with the reduction of international tension."

Mr. Eisenhower made the following recommendations to confront the new Soviet tactics:

1. Continue to maintain an effective system of collective security based on "clear warning that armed aggression will be met by joint action of the free nations, and deterrent military power to make that warning effective."

2. "Moreover, the awesome power of the atom must be made to serve as a guardian of the free community and of the peace. The constituted a warning to the Russians that atomic weapons would be used against aggression, if absolutely necessary."

3. The mutual security program of military and economic aid to anti-Communist nations must be continued and "fortified." The President gave no figures but the administration plans to ask Congress for an expanded foreign aid program. Congress will be asked to authorize a $4,900,000,000 program compared with approximately $2,700,000,000 authorized for the current fiscal year.

4. In a new move, the President asked Congress "to grant limited authority" to make longer term commitments for economic aid projects to friendly nations.

5. Promote in the Near East "a fair solution of the tragic dispute between the Arab states and Israel, all of whom we want as our friends." He called on both sides to join the United States in making contributions to enduring peace in the troubled area.

Soil Bank Plan Will Be 'Heart' of Farm Program, Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON (U-P)—President Eisenhower said today that a soil bank plan will be the heart of his "imaginative" new program to save farmers from declining prices and rising costs.

Mr. Eisenhower said in his State of the Union message that he also will ask Congress in a special farm message Monday to approve measures to bolster the surplus disposal program, step up research and promote new farm markets.

Although he did not say so specifically, he indicated the administration will stand solidly behind the flexible price support program which has come under heavy fire from many farm congressmen of both parties.

Mr. Eisenhower did not spell out the details of the new soil bank proposal. But he said it will call for "an acreage reserve" to reduce surpluses and a "conservation reserve."

Congressional leaders who were briefed Wednesday said the program will involve cash payments to farmers, who reduce their already allotted acreage on the four big surplus crops—wheat, corn, cotton and rice.

"Our farm people are not sharing as they should in the general prosperity," Mr. Eisenhower said. "They alone of all major groups have seen their incomes decline rather than rise. They are caught between two millstones—rising production costs and declining prices."

Mr. Eisenhower blamed the situation mainly on policies of previous Democratic administrations. But steps to solve the problem, he said, should be "above and beyond politics."

"Our national farm policy, so vital to the welfare of farm people and all of us, must not become a field for political warfare," he declared. "Too much is at stake."

What is needed, he declared, is a bipartisan, many-sided assault on the stubborn problems of surpluses, prices, costs and markets. Reports reaching Harrisburg this morning were that Mr. Wilson suffered a heart attack yesterday while driving his automobile at Crystal City and that death came early last night.

He and Mrs. Wilson resided at 501 West Locust street in Harrisburg and for many years he has had an office in Harrisburg in his capacity as a legal representative for members of the United Mine Workers of America.

He had held the post of legal representative for about 10 years and before that had worked for a number of mining companies. Among them were the O'Garra Coal Co., the Saline County Coal Co., and the Peabody Coal Co.

Survivors include his wife, Nettie; two sisters, Mabel Davenport of Kankakee, Ill., and Grace Wilson of Chicago; and two brothers, Tim Wilson of Kankakee and Harry Wilson in California. He leaves two children, two sisters, Inez and Donna, preceded him in death. Inez was a former Saline county circuit clerk.

Mr. Wilson came to Harrisburg many years ago from the Danville, Ill., area. He was about 65 years of age.

There was no information available regarding the funeral but it was learned that the body will be returned to Harrisburg.

Bridges Charged with Illegal Sale of Liquor

Wayne Bridges, Harrisburg taxicab operator, was charged with illegal sale of liquor in an information filed yesterday by State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson.

The information was filed upon complaint of the Harrisburg city police, who charge that Bridges made a sale of a half pint of whiskey from his taxicab Christmas morning. Bridges pleaded innocent.

through the soil bank plan and measures to strengthen the government's surplus disposal program.

Several House Republican leaders at Wednesday's farm briefing by Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson said the two-phase soil bank would work this way:

1. The "acreage reserve" would be an emergency program in which growers of corn, wheat, cotton and rice would be paid to cut their already-allotted acreage voluntarily. They would be paid at current support prices, less estimated production costs, for the estimated crops they did not grow.

2. A long range "conservation reserve" in which about 350 million dollars would be paid in the first year to farmers who take acres out of the four crops and use them for conservation crops such as grass.

On other aspects of the farm problem, Mr. Eisenhower said he would urge strengthening of commodity programs "to remove controls where possible, to reduce carry-overs, and to stop further accumulations of surpluses."

Dwight Wilson Dies in Florida

Umw Representative Suffers Heart Attack While On Vacation

Dwight Wilson, Harrisburg resident well-known in mining circles, died last night at Crystal River, Fla., where he and Mrs. Wilson were spending a holiday vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left Harrisburg around Dec. 17 to go to Crystal City, where they have a house. Reports reaching Harrisburg this morning were that Mr. Wilson suffered a heart attack yesterday while driving his automobile at Crystal City and that death came early last night.

He and Mrs. Wilson resided at 501 West Locust street in Harrisburg and for many years he has had an office in Harrisburg in his capacity as a legal representative for members of the United Mine Workers of America.

He had held the post of legal representative for about 10 years and before that had worked for a number of mining companies. Among them were the O'Garra Coal Co., the Saline County Coal Co., and the Peabody Coal Co.

There was no information available regarding the funeral but it was learned that the body will be returned to Harrisburg.

Says Reduction In National Debt Comes First

President Urges Congress to Continue Present Tax Rates

WASHINGTON (U-P)—President Eisenhower told Congress today there should be no tax cut now.

He ruled out an election year cut despite his expectation of a balanced budget this year and next. Some reduction of the 280-billion-dollar national debt should come ahead of tax cuts.

Under present boom conditions, "we can never justify going further into debt to give ourselves a tax cut at the expense of our children," he said.

Mr. Eisenhower, in fact, asked Congress to continue all excise taxes at their present rates and to continue the present corporate tax rate at 52 per cent for another year. These taxes now are scheduled for reduction April 1.

The President set forth his tax views in a State of the Union message that glowed with promise of even greater prosperity, but soberly warned that Russia and Communist China still pose "a serious threat to the free world."

Expect More Spending
Mr. Eisenhower is in Key West, Fla., recuperating from his heart attack. His message of about 7,800 words was read in the House and Senate by reading clerks.

After the message was sent to Congress, Mr. Eisenhower talked 7 minutes and 30 seconds for news-reel and television film cameras in Key West, giving a synopsis of his message.

The President's recommendations included a "soil bank" program to ease the agricultural crisis; federal aid to relieve classroom shortages; a long-range economic aid program; and more military aid; highway construction; federal help in natural disasters such as floods; expanded social security; government steps to help those with heavy costs of illness and hospitalization; establishment of a commission to investigate allegations of civil rights violations against Negroes.

All these added up to more spending at home and abroad.

Even so, Mr. Eisenhower forecast a balanced budget for fiscal 1956 and 1957.

As for the personal income tax, and taxes in general, he said: "Under conditions of high peacetime prosperity, such as now exist, we can never justify going further into debt to give ourselves a tax cut at the expense of our children."

Says Outlook Bright
The President said "the outlook is bright with promise" but warned that Russia has "demonstrated conclusively" it is not yet willing to create the indispensable conditions for a secure and lasting peace.

This country, therefore, he said, must remain strong at home and abroad although he promised that "we shall persevere in seeking a general reduction of armaments under effective inspection and control."

This was Mr. Eisenhower's fourth State of the Union message. It was his first to be read to Congress rather than delivered in person.

In it he outlined a broad program of legislation in both domestic and foreign fields. He said his proposals would "further promote the release of the energies of our people, broaden opportunities for all of them... advance

Dark-Horse Handicapping

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
With Governor Lausche of Ohio and Senator Kefauver of Tennessee tossing their hats into the ring,
the Democratic presidential lineup may be said to have taken on firm shape. Adlai Stevenson now knows beyond doubt who his competition is.

Kefauver's candidacy, of course, has been in a cellophane bag for weeks. But Lausche's entry as an Ohio favorite son is a moderate surprise.

He obviously does not intend to make a hard run for it in the early stages of the campaign. The Ohio primary on May 8 is the only one he plans to enter.

The sanest speculation is that he is plotting himself in the "available" slot, much as Governor Harrison of New York already has done.

Both Lausche and Harriman, by declining to be truly active candidates, have acknowledged the strong lead Stevenson holds at the outset. But both want it understood they are ready to step in if the 1952 nominee should falter.

Lausche appreciates that Harrison's New Deal background might limit his acceptability to conservative Democrats, especially in the South. The Ohio governor could have a strong appeal among conservatives and moderates in his party. Not long ago
Senator Russell of Georgia mentioned him as a likely prospect.

On the other hand, Lausche, who is an unabashed admirer of President Eisenhower and virtually admitted that in 1950 he voted for the re-election of the late Sen.
Robert Taft, might have trouble garnishing support among northern liberal Democrats.

He has the further handicap of being a political lone wolf. Organization Democrats in and out of Ohio do not embrace him. He has not done them many services,
and they do not forget.

This same problem does Kefauver, of whom Oklahoma's Senator Kerr once said: "The hunters won't hunt with him, and the hounds won't run with him."

Kefauver never has had any great illusions about his standing among the party professionals. He must stand or fall on the strength he can build through winning primary contests. But as 1952 showed (he won 13 of 15 he entered), even a smashing primary record is no guarantee of success in the convention.

Nevertheless, he could hardly achieve that kind of showing in 1956 without taking Stevenson into camp three or four times. That would finish Stevenson, and in the view of the experts, and in the fluid convention situation that then would follow, Kefauver's chances could not be wholly discounted.

Pal From Brooklyn.

WASHINGTON. — Friends are suggesting to Congresswoman Gracie Pfoz, Democrat, of Idaho, that she dress up as an Egyptian and make a speech on the floor of Congress inviting Bulganin and Khrushchev to visit Moscow, Idaho.

In that case, suggest friends, maybe the Ike-ites would allocate the same amount of money to develop Hell's Canyon as they're offering the Egyptians to build the Aswan dam on the upper Nile.

This kidding of the lady from Idaho highlights the fact that Hell's Canyon and Aswan dams are exactly the same in general principle except the Aswan dam is three times more expensive. Yet, while the Eisenhower administration has gone out of its way to offer money to build Aswan for the Egyptian government, it has vetoed any big government dam at Hell's Canyon. Instead, it has given the Idaho Power company a permit to build a small dam.

This small private dam doesn't begin to take advantage of Hell's Canyon's huge power potential, and would be swallowed up if the big dam were built later.

Western congressmen plan a bitter drive against Eisenhower on the Nile dam. Their motto is:
"What's good enough for the Nile is good enough for the Snake."
Southern congressmen plan to oppose the Nile dam for another reason. They don't want the U. S.
to irrigate 1,000,000 acres for competitive Egyptian cotton.

BATTLE OVER THE LEES

Both Sinny Weeks, Secretary of Commerce, and Len Hall, the equally barren-beaned chairman of the Republican national committee, have something in common with U. S. Grant. They wish they had never heard of the Lees.

Two Lees, one a Republican named Fred from Vermont who's been in charge of air safety; the other a Democrat named Josh from Oklahoma who's been allcating air routes on the Civil Aeronautics Board, have been causing Weeks and Hall all sorts of headaches. Both were fired by Weeks and Hall, and the firing has backfired in the Senate.

Fred Lee, the ex-Civil Aeronautics administrator, Republican, has already been dealt with in this column. Josh Lee is equally important, has done an equally good job.

Josh came to Congress as a public-speaking professor from the University of Oklahoma back in New Deal days, was elected to the Senate, was then appointed to the Civil Aeronautics Board, where he's served 12 years.

Josh is the author of a book
"How To Hold An Audience Without A Rope," and no one at first thought he knew much about aeronautics. Probably he didn't.
But he has become not only an expert aeronautics commissioner, but a champion of little air lines. That perhaps was his big mistake.

When his name came up for reappointment, a lot of Republicans went to bat for him. But most were connected with little air lines.

LEN HALL SAYS NO

Barak Mattingly, for instance, is one of the biggest wheels in the Republican party in Missouri and the middle west, is also head of Ozark Airlines, a small feeder line. He went to bat hard for Josh Lee's reappointment, talked to Chairman Hall personally. But Hall was adamant.

Arthur Mueller, head of North Central Airlines, another Republican, also went to bat for him. Len Hall was adamant. Bob Six, husband of Ethel Merman and a Republican, head of Continental Airlines, also went to bat for Lee.
He couldn't budge Len Hall.

Jack Floberg, close of the Chicago Tribune and head of the Feeder Line Association, also went to bat, together with GOP Congressman, Les Arends of Illinois, who's close to Capital Airlines.

All pointed out that the law required Josh Lee's place on CAB to go to a Democrat; so Lee, as a Democrat, should be reappointed.
Chairman Len Hall, however, was against Lee, stood out for another Democrat, Joseph Minetti, already appointed by Eisenhower to the Maritime Board.

Inside fact is that Undersecretary of Commerce Louis Rothchild didn't want Minetti, but Hall forced his appointment anyway.
Just why Hall should be so insistent on Minetti has been a mystery.

However, here are some of the inside reasons why:
1. Minetti, a Brooklyn Democrat, was backed by the Republican leader of Brooklyn, John Crews, who is a close friend of Chairman Hall's. Also, Minetti married the daughter of a prominent Brooklyn Republican, Fred Abern.

2. Minetti was backed by Roy Cohn, who won fame as counsel to Senator McCarthy and who is counsel for National Air Lines.
What makes senators sore is that every Democratic ex-senator appointed by previous presidents has now been kicked out of office by Eisenhower. Under the law, a certain number of Democrats must be appointed to every commission, and many of these have been ex-senators.

However, Eisenhower has fired every one when their terms expired, including even ex-Senator
A. O. Stanley of Kentucky, appointed by Hoover to the International Joint Commission; ex-Senator George McGill of Kansas, appointed to the Tariff Commission;
ex-Senator Jim Mead of New York, appointed to the Federal Trade Commission; and now ex-Senator Josh Lee of Oklahoma, appointed to the CAB.

Not only has Ike dropped these ex-senators but he has refused to reappoint a total of eight Democrats to places which must be held by Democrats on various commissions.

Note — Vice President "Red" Moe of American Airlines has written me that he had nothing to do with putting Minetti on the CAB. I'm delighted to set the facts straight on that point.

The housefly feeds and breeds most extensively in manure, garbage and fermenting crop wastes.

La Rosa Happy Over Engagement to Rory Meyer, Secretary to Perry Como

NEW YORK (AP) — Julius La
Rosa, looking happy and properly humble, declared jestingly Wednesday night that he and his bride-to-be "might have our first argument" about setting a wedding date.

La Rosa, who rocketed to success after Arthur Godfrey fired him, announced Wednesday that he would wed Rosemary (Rory) Meyer, private secretary to singer
Perry Como.

"If it was up to me," said La Rosa at a news conference, "I'd be married tomorrow. But she's more sensible, I guess. She worries about details and that sort of thing."

La Rosa beamed happily during a half-hour ordeal of picture-taking.

"Everything is perfect, just perfect," said the 26-year-old baritone. "About the only imperfect thing is that we have to share this beautiful thing with thousands and thousands of people. I guess
I shouldn't say that, but you know what I mean."

La Rosa, who met Miss Meyer
last February on a blind date, said he had been planning to pop the question for a long time.

"I'm a pretty impetuous kind of guy, I guess you know that. But I wanted to do it right this time.
So I waited till New Year's Eve—a perfect time, I think."

Grace Kelly Ties Mrs. Paley as Best Dressed Woman

NEW YORK (AP) —Hollywood's star
"lady," Grace Kelly, came up from the bottom of the list today to tie for first place as the best dressed woman of the year.

Miss Kelly, 10th on last year's list of the New York Dress Institute's couture group, tied with Mrs. William Paley for this year's honors. Mrs. Paley, one of Boston's famous Cushing sisters who married the chairman of the board of the Columbia Broadcasting System, had held the top spot by herself for the last two years. This was her seventh year in first place since she first appeared as a fashionable young matron in 1941.

The annual list of 10 was increased to 14 this year with ties for the first three and the 10th spot.

The duchess of Windsor, who shares see-saw honors with Mrs.
Paley, and her husband's niece,
Princess Margaret of Britain, tied for second place.

The list included two other pairs of relatives — first cousins Mrs.
Henry Ford II and Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, and the latter's aging in-law, Mme. Louis Jacques Balsan, the former Consuelo Vanderbilt and duchess of Marlborough.

Tied for third place were Chris-teal heiress Mrs. Byron Foy and Countess Rodolfo Crespi, of Rome, former New York debutante and model, Consuelo O'Connor.

Others on the list were:
4. Mrs. Winston Guest of New York and Palm Beach, who was the former Lucy Cochrane of Boston.

5. Mrs. William Randolph Hearst Jr., of New York, the former Aus-tine McConnell Cassin.

6. Mme. Balsan.
7. Mrs. Vanderbilt.
8. Mrs. Ford.
9. Mme. Arturo Lopez-Willshaw, of Paris.

10. The countess of Quintanilla, of Madrid, the former Mary Elaine Griffith of New York, and Mrs.
Oveta Culp Hobby, of Houston,
Tex., former secretary of health, education and welfare.

Municipal Fund Trustees Elected

The Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund announces the election of three trustees for the five year terms beginning Jan. 1, 1956. They are:

Granville Coburn, Rockford, executive trustee.
Arnim G. Olson, Winnetka, employee trustee.

John W. Kerkering, Quincy, annuity trustee.
Mr. Coburn is superintendent of the Winnebago County Forest Preserve, and is presently secretary-treasurer of the Illinois League of Municipal Employees. He succeeds George L. Oppen, Village Manager of the Village of Riverside, who did not seek re-election as a trustee.

Mr. Olson is superintendent of the Winnetka Water and Electric department and has been an employee trustee of the fund for the past 10 years.

Mr. Kerkering, prior to his retirement, was office manager of the Quincy water department. He has served one term as an employee trustee, and for the last five years has been an annuitant trustee.

The Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund comprises 1700 Illinois local governmental bodies, including more than 28,000 employees.

LaRosa to Headline Entertainment at St. Louis Auto Show

Julius LaRosa, popular record and television artist and former star of the Arthur Godfrey radio and tv shows, will headline the 3 daily stage shows at the 1956 St.
Louis Auto Show, Jan. 14-22, at the Arena.

Featured with LaRosa will be the DeCastro Sisters, recording and night club vocal trio, and St.
Louis' Russ David and his orchestra.

In announcing the entertainment stars for the 38th annual Auto Show, the show committee, headed by Thomas E. Costello, general manager of McMahon Pontiac, Co., is continuing the policy inaugurated last year of presenting regular stage shows in conjunction with the exhibition of new cars, "dream cars" of the future, animated cutaway models and allied displays.

Stags shows will be presented at 2:30, 7:30 and 9:30 p. m.
daily during the 9-day exposition.

Advance sale of reduced rate adult tickets will be held Jan. 3-13, inclusive, at the Arena, 5700
Oakland Ave., and the Arcade bldg., mezzanine. During the advance sale, regular $1.00 adult tickets will be sold at 75c. Mail orders will be accepted when accompanied by check or money order and self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Both La Rosa and Miss Meyer are Roman Catholics.
"And will Godfrey be invited to the wedding?" asked a reporter.
"Rory will take care of all the invitations," said La Rosa solemnly. "I'll leave that up to her."

Address: Thornton Minor Clinic, 511 S. East Lincoln Blvd., Kansas City 9, Mo. This offer is exactly as stated above—no charge no obligation—no bill now or later.

Statemakers Screen Demo Downstaters

CHICAGO (CP)—Democratic statemakers today began interviewing downstate candidates for berths on the party's 1956 state ticket.

A joint committee of downstate and Cook County party leaders met to "screen" candidates for statewide office in the April 10 primary. State Democratic Chairman James A. Ronan said about 30 downstaters would be interviewed today and Friday. Cook County candidates for state office will be heard from late Friday, he said.

"We're going to listen to all of them — everybody who has expressed any inclination or desire to be heard," Ronan said.

Eighteen downstaters were on the list for appearances today, with 10 more slated for interviews Friday.

Many Show Up Today

Roy E. Yung of Springfield, who was state agriculture director under former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, was the only candidate for U. S. senator due to show up today.

For governor, former Atty. Gen. John E. Cassidy of Peoria was the lone downstater on today's list.

Others scheduled to be interviewed today:

For lieutenant governor: Former State Sen. Kent Lewis, Robinson; John Asher, state central committeeman from Paris; Roscoe Bonjean, Springfield; and State Reps. Paul Powell, Vienna; Samuel Shapiro, Kankakee; and Joseph Russell, Piper City.

For attorney general: Richard Babcock, Woodstock; State's Atty. Bernard J. Moran, Rock Island; and former Asst. Atty. Gen. Harry L. Pate, Tuscola.

For state treasurer: Fred Thomas, Peoria; Max Hill, Belleville; and State Rep. Clyde Choate, Anna.

For clerk of the Illinois Supreme Court: James Alexander, Lawrenceville; and Mrs. Marjorie Schneider, Galesburg.

For secretary of state: David Mallett, East St. Louis.

For state auditor: State Rep. George Saal, Pekin.

of the Sahara mines, said that the reason for no fatalities could not be pinpointed to any specific thing. "If we could," he said, "we naturally would redouble our efforts along that line."

He said, however, that changes in mining methods throughout the years had been conducive to more safety and less accidents. And, of course, he continued, the company constantly impresses on all its employees the importance of always taking safety precautions.

He also gave credit to a step-up in state inspection and federal inspections, a new thing, for the safety record.

Mrs. Bill Kaid Hostess To Cottage Grove Home Bureau Unit

The Cottage Grove Home Bureau unit met Wednesday, Jan. 4, at the home of Mrs. Bill Kaid. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ralph Billman, with 13 members answering roll call.

Minutes were read and approved. The vice chairman reported that all dues are paid and that 16 phone calls and three home visits had been made. The health chairman, Mrs. L. A. Berry, gave an informative talk on polio and also urged all who could to donate blood which is needed by the county.

The 4-H chairman asked each member to consider eligible members for 4-H clubs for the coming year. The president announced that a school of metal etching will be held at the city hall in the council room Jan. 26 and an upholstery school will be held Jan. 23, 25 and 27 at the same location.

The president read a questionnaire from the home adviser concerning the club's activities. A donation of five dollars was made to the polio fund.

Mrs. Eugene Miller and Mrs. J. C. Miller gave an interesting lesson on "Using Green and Yellow Vegetables."

The Garden club meeting will be discontinued until further notice. The hostess served refreshments to the following: Mrs. Raymond Alvey, Mrs. Kenneth Berry, Mrs. Lee A. Berry, Mrs. O. L. Berry, Mrs. Ralph Billman, Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Mrs. Eugene Lamkin, Mrs. Dan Ludlow, Mrs. Clyde Miller, Mrs. Eugene Miller, Mrs. J. C. Miller, Mrs. Willie Robinson, Mrs. Wayne Stallings, Mrs. Reuel Thaxton and one visitor, Mrs. Eugene Rister.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Alfred Johnson.

Big Ridge Faithful Followers Class Meets

The Faithful Followers class of the Big Ridge Baptist church met Tuesday, Jan. 3, at the home of Mrs. Emilia J. Fox.

The meeting was opened by singing the class song followed by prayer by Mrs. Genevieve Alvey. Ten members answered roll call by naming the twelve disciples. Minutes were read and approved and the treasurer, Mrs. Theda Miller, gave her report.

The remainder of the evening was spent in visitation. The hostess, Mrs. Kenneth Fox, served delicious refreshments to the following: Mrs. Erma J. Alvey, Mrs. Genevieve Alvey, Mrs. Emilia J. Fox, Mrs. Jean M. Fox, Mrs. Barbara Miller, Mrs. Theda Miller, Mrs. Eva Mudge, Mrs. Wilma Rister, Mrs. Deldia Rae Watkins, Mrs. Margaret Wise and one visitor, Mrs. Jane Fox.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Margaret Wise.

Father Warns Son Police Clocking Speed; Both are Fined

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. (AP)—A father got in trouble with the law Wednesday night because he tried to warn his son police were clocking his speed.

Samuel T. Plough, 26, Lawrenceville, and his father, John, 67, were taken to court by state police after these events happened:

Patrolmen John Greathouse and Orville Hall were clocking young Plough for speeding on Ill. 1 with a semi-trailer truck. John Plough was behind the police car and police said he crossed into the other highway lane and blinked his lights to warn his son he was being checked.

Samuel Plough paid fines of $39 for speeding and $9 for contempt of court. His father was fined $24 for crossing the yellow centerline of the highway.

Harvard Psychologist Acquitted of Charge of Contempt of Congress

BOSTON (AP)—Federal Judge Bailey Aldrich today acquitted former Harvard psychologist Leon J. Kamin in a contempt of Congress case.

Aldrich ruled that Boston investigation of subversion and espionage in privately operated defense plants was "not within the authority" of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee formerly headed by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Kamin was accused of refusing to answer questions at a hearing held Jan. 15, 1954, before McCarthy.

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Gibbons, 1114 South McKinley, are announcing the engagement of their youngest daughter, Carrie Charline, to Gerald Emory DeWitt, son of Rev. and Mrs. M. W. McKinley Baptist Circle A Has Program on Indians

Mrs. J. D. McCarty was hostess to Circle A of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 for the regular business meeting and missionary program.

Mrs. Amy Reynolds, chairman, presided over the meeting which opened with the singing of the WMS hymn for the year, "The Kingdom is Coming," and with prayer by Mrs. Carrie Jackson.

Reports were given by various chairmen. Mrs. Lilly Chitty, community mission chairman, stated that the project for the month of January is to visit, invite and enlist new members. Mrs. Lucy Rumsey, mission study chairman, announced that three members read mission books and reminded the group that February is the month for home mission books. The stewardship chairman, Mrs. Gertie Hutchison, reported seven tithers in the group and urged the other members to give to the church.

Three new members were present. Mrs. Essie Holloway, Mrs. Lois Cletcher and Mrs. Gertrude McElmerry, and one visitor, Mrs. Florence Raley.

Mrs. Reba Clark closed the business session with prayer.

Mrs. Amy Bond was in charge of the lesson on the "American Indians." The devotion was given by five women reading scripture verses in connection with the lesson. Mrs. Lilly Chitty gave a talk on "Old Worn Out Rubber Tires," and Mrs. Ada Rann talked on "The Jolly Jesus Woman."

Prayers were offered by Mrs. Rumsey, Mrs. Florence Raley and Mrs. Patsy Gibbons. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Essie Holloway, 722 West Sloan.

Mrs. McCarty served sandwiches, cookies, coffee and cold drinks to 14 present.

Stratton Announces Program to Build Local Blacktops

STANFORD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton has announced a program to construct local blacktop road systems throughout the state.

He chose Rep. Homer Caton (R-Stanford) Wednesday as the head of a voluntary local level plan similar to that started in Allin Township here.

Allin Township was the first to make use of a law passed by the last session of the Legislature aiding local road-building. The new law permits townships to use motor fuel allotments to pay off bond issues floated for road construction.

Stratton said the law permits townships to take care of road-building projects at one time through a bond issue instead of making them wait each year for motor fuel funds. The governor described the program as one with "tremendous possibilities."

Sen. Monroney Charges White House Suppresses Cabinet Report on CAA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney charged today that the White House has "suppressed" a section of a cabinet-level report on transportation because it is "so raw" in its anti-aviation slant.

The Oklahoma Democrat said his Senate Commerce subcommittee on aviation will try to "flush out" the report to prove the existence of a "ground-minded clique" in the administration.

The subcommittee's interest is part of its investigation into the ouster of Frederick B. Lee as civil aeronautics administrator. Monroney has claimed that Lee was "railroaded" out of the top CAA post late last year by a "ground-minded clique" headed by Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks and Commerce Undersecretary Louis B. Rothschild.

Lee, a Vermont Republican, was called back before the subcommittee today for his second day of testimony. The subcommittee wanted details of his conversation with Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams preceding the White House announcement of Lee's resignation.

The controversial transportation report, released last April, was drafted by a cabinet-level Transportation Advisory Committee to the President, headed by Weeks. The report encountered bitter criticism from the trucking industry for its major recommendation that federal regulations be liberalized so as to give railroads a better chance to compete with trucking.

McKay Denies He Plans to Quit Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Douglas McKay said today he has no intention of resigning during President Eisenhower's current term.

Speculation that he might resign started when McKay said in Honolulu Dec. 20 that he would like to retire and take it easy in places like his home state of Oregon and Hawaii.

"I was appointed by President Eisenhower to serve at his pleasure," McKay said in an interview. "and I certainly will continue to do that through his term."

But McKay would not be pinned down on whether he would continue in his post if Mr. Eisenhower were to be reelected and asked him to serve again. He made it clear without stating his position in so many words that that would be a question to be answered by the White House.

No Immediate Decision "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it," he said.

The former Oregon governor also said he is not perturbed by reports that Democratic leaders will demand his resignation because of timber, wildlife, water resources and other policies the interior department has followed under his administration. He has been accused of following a "giveaway" policy with public resources.

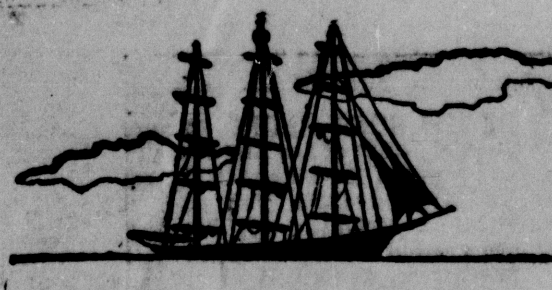

"When I was governor somebody was always mad at me," McKay said. "I just go down the line and do what I think is best and forget it."

Pulling for his brief case, he reached out a typewritten quotation by Lincoln and handed it to a reporter. The opening line read: "If I were to try to read, much less answer, all the attacks made on me, this shop might as well be closed for any other business."

Dionne Sister Denies Engagement

This, the Pacific, glistened. The men openly wept. Their ultimate reserves of strength had been taken from them in the strait passage. Now they had nothing left, except the weak, dulled fragments of hope. Now they pleaded with Naish to bring the ship somehow toward the land.

Naish was forced to tell them that he could do nothing. He moved with Mr. Bothwick to the taffrail and they checked the course. Their speed had increased. The ship was caught within a powerful,

Nagging Backache Sleepless Nights

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exercising, emotional upset or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation... with that restless, uncomfortable feeling. If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 million of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable... with restless, sleepless nights... don't wait—try Doan's Pills... get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Doan's Pills today!

to him wholly unknown current that bore them steadily West and North. It ran at a speed the ship log registered at about three miles an hour. He studied his Pacific chart, his hands shaking so hard the stiff parchment rattled. No land to the Southward but the Antarctic. To the North and West was a vast, empty region broken only by the reefs and coral islands of the Tuamotu Archipelago. He took the dividers and measured the distance.

More than 300 miles. If the current continued at the same rate of speed, and even if in some part of the expanse the Trade Wind found them, that meant 40-some days. A month and a half. Don't lie, to yourself, or to the lads. He put the dividers down upon the chart. "You'll let them know, sir?" Bothwick said.

"Yes," he said. "I must."

They listened with their heads bent, eyes averted, as if they had already understood. "Of course there's plenty of fish," he said to them numb-lipped, "and the squalls will give us rain water for drink. We might raise Easter Island, or Pitcairn, before we come up to the others. Then, of course, we'll be all right."

The men gave him no reply.

Tatem died in the first week, off by himself near the tryworks and quietly, in what appeared to be sleep. Then Oliphant went on the 12th day from the straits; he babbled and yelled at the end and waved his hands at phantoms. Naish attempted to solace him and was rebuffed, weakly slapped in the face. "Leave be," Kitchen mumbled from beyond against the hatch coaming. "You've fixed us fine. We want no part o' you."

Naish returned to the quarter deck. It wasn't worth while to speak back, he thought. His strength was needed.

Kitchen died on the 21st day in coma, and Titcomb was about to go, and Mr. Wilson, who was adrift and stared straight, unblinking at the sun. Naish rose from his chair and with Alfie and Mr. Bothwick to help pushed the body into the sea. "I'd like to say the service," Naish said, "but I can't."

"No matter," Alfie said. "The shang'ave already done fer him."

Alfie came aft from the galley on the 41st day with the tea mugs precariously balanced. His eyes were puffed almost shut; his hands were so malformed that he could not contract them around the mugs, only press the mugs loosely to his body. "Ere it is 'ot," he said.

"Good lad," Naish whispered and took a mug. "How's Checkers?"

"Pegged out last night in 'is bunk."

The acrid, unsugared tea made Naish shudder. "Maybe, if you can, you'd better have a look at Mr. Wilson."

"I did, sir, before. The same as Checkers."

Naish had no expression for his sorrow. And it was better not to speak, he sensed. Mr. Bothwick wasn't too far gone yet to fail mentally, and with Alfie's tea Mr. Finn had begun to revive a bit. "Will we not here," Finn granted, "or will we raise land?"

"Raise land," Naish told him.

"Ye said that about Easter and Pitcairn. We missed both clean. You're a liar."

"Still, we'll raise the Tuamotus," Naish said. "We must be nearly in among them now."

Mr. Finn didn't seem to hear. He lay slack on the deck, his mouth open, his breathing harsh and halting like that of the men who had already died. Bothwick's burst of energy was finished; he stretched limp, and at the ladder head Alfie sat, the mug of tea he held untasted and forgotten.

The atoll might be part of a dream; there had been many phantasmal objects he had seen in his waking moments of the past days. He stood up reeling from the chair and then he was able to see the coral glare, the rollers on the barrier reef, and the canoes that sailed forth through the pass. You'll live. You won't deserve to, but you won't die.

One man was well ahead of the others. He paddled his canoe alone and he sprang to the dolphin-striker and swarmed aboard over the bow.

He was tall, and broad in the shoulders, narrow in the waist, wore just a small cloth about his waist. His grace and his strength were superb. A bronze glint was on his magnificently muscled body. The black, luxuriant hair shone with a bluish luster under the sun; the wide-set eyes flashed darkly and the white and strong teeth showed as he smiled.

"My name is Kaiu," he said. "I'm from the island here, me and those lads in the canoes." He looked around him at the gaping, pitiful sick. "If you need help, we can tow your ship in."

"Thank you," Naish said slowly. He shook Kaiu's hand and the strength in it was incredible to him. "We're in a bad way. Scum and not the right food or medicines. You can help us. But how will you manage the tow?"

"With the canoes," Kaiu said. (To Be Continued)

Eisenhower Rules Out Tax Cut Now

the republic in its leadership toward a just peace.

Waste Stronger Defenses

If approved, he said, his program would contribute to building an "ever-stronger, ever-better America." The President asked for continued cooperation with our Allies, and recommended a new program of economic aid. He said we must "sustain and fortify" our existing mutual security program.

On the home front, the President called for:

"Constant improvement" of our defense structure.

A new program to help farmers, including a double-barreled "soil bank" plan to reduce acreage and cut big government surpluses. He urged that farm legislation be kept out of politics.

A broad new highway program.

A new system of federal assistance in natural disasters, including an experimental plan to pay for flood losses.

A new five-year program of federal aid in building schools.

He said he would recommend later "further expansion" of social security coverage.

He asked for a stepped up program of federal aid for medical research and said he would recommend later a new plan for assistance to medical schools.

He said the government should take steps to cushion the heavy and rising costs of illness and hospitalization. He said this should be done either by federal reinsurance of voluntary health insurance policies or by some other method.

The President asked, again, for expanded coverage of the wage-hour laws. He disclosed that the administration will ask later for legislation to require public disclosure of the financial affairs of union pension and welfare funds.

Seeks Help for Farmers

The President said "virtually all" segments of the economy are sharing in the good times.

Farm families, "if we act wisely, imaginatively and promptly," can also look forward to sharing equitably in the general prosperity, he said.

"Our farm people are not sharing as they should in the general prosperity," the President said. "They alone of all major groups have seen their incomes decline rather than rise."

This hurts the whole economy, the President said, and is of "great concern" to us all. He called for a "stepped-up attack" on the deep-seated farm problem and warned there is no single easy solution.

He said he will send Congress later—Monday, according to Key West reports—a special message on his farm proposals.

The President also made the following recommendations:

Statehood: "I urgently request this Congress to grant statehood toward statehood for Alaska can be made in this session."

Fingerprints: The law should be amended to permit the secretary of state and the attorney general to waive requirements of fingerprinting on a reciprocal basis for persons coming to this country for temporary visits. Russian delegations last year objected to fingerprinting.

Postal Rates: Recommendations for new post office facilities and a boost in postal rates will be submitted later.

Immigration: "I again point out to the Congress the urgent need for revision of the immigration and nationality laws. I recommend that the number of persons admitted to this country annually be based not on the 1920 census but on the latest, the 1950 census," he said.

Civil Rights: The President called for a bipartisan commission to be created by Congress to investigate charges that Negroes are being deprived of their right to vote and subjected to "unwarranted economic pressures" in some localities.

Pay Raise: A pay raise for government executives, including adjustments of pay in top career positions, is "essential to efficient governmental management."

Monopoly: The government must try to keep "the door of opportunity to new and small enterprises," check monopoly and preserve a competitive environment.

Put a little vinegar in any new frying pan and bring it to a boil. This process will prevent food from sticking.

Doctor Cleared On Charge of Murdering Wife

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Hobart H. Todd was a free man today for the first time since his wife's body was found sprawled between twin beds in their $40,000 suburban home last month.

A justice of the peace cleared the 43-year-old doctor of a murder charge Wednesday because of lack of evidence.

A short time earlier, a coroner's jury had ruled that Mrs. Hazel Todd, 37, died of an overdose of barbiturates last Dec. 3. The jury added it could not decide whether she was slain, committed suicide, or died accidentally.

Todd, a former New York City physician, placed his head in his hands and wept after learning he was free.

"I fully expected vindication and now I have it," he said. "I am going to rest and perhaps take a trip to Florida."

Todd had been held in Cook County Jail ever since he telephoned the suburban Skokie fire department and asked that an inhalator be sent to his home.

Mrs. Todd, who had divorced a New York insurance executive a year earlier to marry the doctor, was found lying on the bedroom floor. She had been dead for some time, authorities said.

Skokie policeman Michael Conroy told Wednesday's hearing that Todd admitted giving his wife injections of sedatives. He also told of striking his wife twice during an argument over money, Conroy said.

However, a coroner's poison expert later ruled that Mrs. Todd died of "barbiturate intoxication" from pills she had swallowed. There was no evidence of injections or a beating, the expert said.

Device Discovered On Airliner Found To Be Harmless

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A small device found aboard a TWA airliner, which touched off a full-scale sabotage investigation and puzzled some of the nation's leading explosives experts, today turned out to be a harmless soldering iron heater.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority, a special Army ordnance unit and the FBI tested and retested the "minute missile" for hours, but could not identify it.

The mystery finally was solved by Robert Woods, a TWA radio maintenance man here who saw a picture of the mechanism in a Pittsburgh newspaper.

Woods ended the frenzied investigation by telling the experts the "mysterious" apparatus was merely a self-contained heater for a soldering iron.

Youth, 18, Kills Police Officer

INDEPENDENCE, Iowa (AP) — An 18-year-old Illinois man shot and killed a police officer here early today after being picked up for questioning and was recaptured four hours later, authorities said.

The victim was Policeman Harold Pierce, 52.

Authorities said Warren Nutter Jr., 18, Freeport, Ill., discharged recently from a training school at St. Charles, Ill., shot Pierce after he, two others boys and two girls were stopped on suspicion of drunken driving.

Burns Fatal to Illinois Man

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Harold Bates, 38, Allendale, Ill., died late Wednesday of burns suffered when he was sprayed by steam from a defective pipe fitting while working in a manhole here.

Bates, an employee of an Indianapolis plumbing firm, was injured Nov. 3.

Rites Today for Mrs. Charles Mitchell

Funeral services for Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Harrisburg woman who died Tuesday at 12:10 a. m. at her home on North Commercial street, were held today at 2 p. m. at the Turner funeral home. Rev. Raymond Beck, Methodist minister at Dorris Heights, officiated and interment was in the Dorrisville cemetery.

Mrs. Andrew Carlson, 87, Formerly of Stonefort, Dies at Creal Springs

Mrs. Victoria Carlson, 87, widow of Andrew Carlson and former resident of the Stonefort community, died Wednesday morning in Creal Springs where she made her home.

She was the mother of Mrs. Madge Simmons of Creal Springs.

The body will lie in state at the Thornton funeral home in Creal Springs until Friday at 1 p. m. when the funeral will be held at the Stonefort Methodist church. Rev. George Smith of the Stonefort Baptist church will officiate and burial will be in the Boulton or Trammel cemetery.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Simmons, she leaves four grandchildren, Billy and Ray Simmons, Mrs. Albert (Madge) Dooley, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Agnes Robertson, St. Louis, Mo. A son, Amos Carlson, preceded her in death, dying in 1948.

Long Branch

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Heathman took Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Dowe Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Nennis are moving to Galatia for the rest of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Manker gave a wedding shower Monday night for their daughter who married recently. She received many lovely gifts.

Roswell Sloan and family spent the New Year's holiday with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams motored to Tennessee to visit his family for a few days last week.

Man Killed, Wife Hurt in Collision

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — John E. Miller, 68, Arrington, was killed and his wife injured Wednesday in a head-on collision on U. S. 51 north of here.

Miller died in a hospital here shortly after the accident. His wife, Mayme, received head injuries.

State police said Miller's car and a pickup truck driven by Wesley Tucker, Clinton, collided as Miller was passing a stopped vehicle.

Tucker, his wife Virginia, and another woman passenger in the truck suffered minor injuries.

Bomber Burns; 21 Crewmen Escape Unharmed

RAPID CITY, S. D. (AP) — Seven million dollars went up in smoke but 21 airmen escaped unharmed Wednesday night when a huge RB36 intercontinental bomber caught fire upon landing.

Ellsworth Air Force Base firemen subdued the flames within an hour, but the seven-million-dollar plane was written off as a total loss by Air Force officials.

A spokesman for the 118th Bombardment Squadron credited the training of individual crew members for their safe escape from the burning craft.

The cause of the fire was not determined. An investigation was launched today.

The plane approached for a normal landing, veered onto another runway, and caught fire after it did an about-face on an adjoining apron.

Capt. Carl N. Smith, commander and pilot of the plane, reported he noticed a fire in one of the bomber's six reciprocating, propeller-type, engines just as the plane's wheels touched the runway. He issued emergency abandonment orders to his crew.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

In reading last Saturday's issue of the Mt. Vernon Register-News noticed the All-Star team for the Egyptian holiday basketball tournament played at Mt. Vernon.

Oliver Rollins of Carrier Mills was named center of the star-studded team.

Joining the Carrier Mills senior were Governor Vaughn and Manie Jackson of Edwardsville at the forward posts and Jarrell Graham of Mt. Vernon and Russ Martin of Carbondale at the guard positions.

Vaughn, Jackson and Graham are all repeaters from the 1954 All-Star team chosen following the tournament which was played in Harrisburg last year.

While reading the exchanges noticed in the Centralia Sentinel there is considerable dissatisfaction with the slow progress on the construction of the Centralia Township high school football stadium. Seems the stadium, to be built on concrete beams, was scheduled for completion Sept. 10, 1955 and at present—more than three months later—it is far from completed.

John Romonosky continues to hurl winning ball in the Mexican Coast League. The local professional baseballer is performing this winter with Los Mochis. In a recent four-game series with the league leading Culiacan team, John posted the only victory for Los Mochis, a six-hit 8-0 shutout. Romonosky is the property of the St. Louis Cardinals and his contract is farmed out to Houston of the Texas league. This is his second year to play winter ball in Mexico.

Southern Illinois university's gymnastic team has released a schedule of exhibitions at various area high schools, with the first appearance listed for Jan. 13 at Mt. Vernon. Other exhibitions—Robinson Jan. 19, Jackson, Mo. Jan. 23, Cairo Mar. 8 and McLeansboro Mar. 30. Southern's annual winter gymnastic show will be presented in Carbondale Feb. 15.

John Tate, captain and high scorer of the Galatia high school basketball team, is on the sick list and it is almost certain he will not be ready for duty this week end. Tate became ill during the holidays and did not return to school until Wednesday of this week.

To clear up a fan's question as to when the practice of using four umpires in World Series games was started. The Sporting News says it was in 1909. Four umpires were selected for the first time in 1908, but only two worked at the time. In the 1909 Series, an argument developed in the second game over a fair ball that bounced into the stands on the foul line. Umpires Billy Evans and Bill Klem, who worked the game, recommended that the two extra umpires be stationed on the foul lines in the remaining games. That's been the system since.

Pee Wee Reese of the Dodgers, who lives in Louisville, has been named by Louisville Courier-Journal sports writers as Kentucky's Man of the Year in Sports. As reported to The Sporting News, Reese was acclaimed for his championship play, his aggressive leadership on the field and his gentle conduct off the diamond.

Bryan Jones Lost To Bull Dog Team For the Season

Bryan Jones, 6-4 Bull Dog basketball center, is lost to the team for the season because of illness, it was revealed yesterday by Lawrence Caluffetti, athletic director. He has not played since the contest at Carrier Mills Dec. 10, and is now confined with double pneumonia.

Caluffetti said that Jones, who was not up to par physically in the Carrier Mills tilt and the game the preceding night against Benton, became ill and missed the Marion game Dec. 16 and the Johnston City game Dec. 17. However, he was able to attend the Johnston City contest but had a relapse. He since has been ill with double pneumonia and reports were that it probably will be about three weeks before he is able to return to school.

He's out for the season as far as basketball is concerned, Caluffetti declared, adding that the slender junior had lost 20 pounds during his illness.

Briggle Dismisses Government Claim Against Ex-Marshall

SPRINGFIELD — Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle today dismissed the government's claim for $11,500 against former U. S. Marshal Robert Grant of Pekin.

The government sued for the salary paid to Grant from June, 1950, through February, 1952, on grounds Grant did not perform his duties because he was accompanying the late confidence man, Robert L. Knetzer, on trips to find alleged hidden assets.

Briggle issued a formal order dismissing the government claim after a conference with U. S. Atty. John B. Stoddard Jr. and attorneys for the Fidelity and Deposit Co. of Maryland, the firm which furnished Grant's bond of office.

Bull Dogs Will Resume Cage Play This Week

Meet Orphans at Centralia Friday; Marion Here Saturday

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, idle in regular cage play since Dec. 20 when they dropped a two-point decision at Carbondale, make the long trek to Centralia Friday night to meet the fast-moving Orphans in a South Seven conference game.

Centralia this year is hampered by height but Coach Jim Evers has developed a speedy outfit that can run with anybody. At present the Orphans have won two and lost two in South Seven play.

Bull Dog basketball will return to Davenport gym Saturday night for the first home game since Dec. 17, when the locals won over a good Johnston City team. Marion, which beat Harrisburg by 19 points in an earlier game, is the foe. Only local tilt since the Carbondale and Johnston City games was the Egyptian holiday tournament game at Mt. Vernon which the Bull Dogs lost to Edwardsville.

Billed at the "game of the week" in southern Illinois this week is another South Seven game—Mt. Vernon at West Frankfort. Both teams have a mark of two wins and one loss in loop play, behind the league-leading Herrin Tigers.

Other Games

Herrin, which has a 4-1 South Seven mark, goes to Zeigler Friday night for a non-conference game.

There will be one other South Seven tilt Friday night, Benton at Marion, and other southern Illinois contests are Shawneetown at Vienna, Rosiclare at Equality, Pope Co. at Ridgway, Eldorado at McLeansboro, Flora at Salem, Johnston City at Metropolis, Galatia at Cave-in-Rock, Thompsonville at Woodlawn, Murphysboro at Du Quoin, Anna at Sparta, Sesser at Christopher, Hurst-Bush at Shawnee, and Carbondale at Tucks at Cairo Sumner.

Marion at Harrisburg is the only South Seven game on the Saturday night schedule. Other games are Galatia at Eldorado, McLeansboro at Carrier Mills, West Frankfort at Carbondale, Murphysboro at Johnston City, Moline at Centralia, and Chester at Pinckneyville.

South Seven standings:

Team	W	L
Herrin	4	1
West Frankfort	2	1
Mt. Vernon	2	1
Centralia	2	2
Marion	2	2
Harrisburg	1	2
Benton	0	3

Indians Sign 'Little Three' Of Mound Staff

By United Press

General Manager Hank Greenberg completed the signing of the Cleveland Indians' "little three of the mound" today and cleared the way for driving hard bargains with high-salaried Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia.

Greenberg announced that strike out wizard Herb Score and Don Mossi had joined Ray Narleski as satisfied employees and pointed out, "It is very comforting to know that we have talented pitchers like them to make up another formidable 'big three' a few years hence."

But the fact that Score, Mossi and Narleski are the only players Greenberg has signed so far made it clear that Lemon, Wynn and Garcia will be entirely on the defensive when the Cleveland general manager sits down to dicker over 1956 terms with them. For the fact is that the so-called "little three" was probably more valuable to the club last year than the "big three" and is almost certain to be so in 1956.

In Baltimore, meanwhile, Assistant General Manager Jack Dunn of the Orioles announced he had signed southpaw Bill Wight for "a well deserved increase."

The world champion Brooklyn Dodgers announced they had signed infielder Jim Gilliam, bringing their satisfied list to five players.

Drawings for Greater Egyptian Conference Tourney at Ridgway

Drawings for the Greater Egyptian conference basketball tournament, to be played at Ridgway Jan. 17-20, were made Wednesday night.

Principals and coaches of the conference met at the Pope County High school in Golconda to make the drawings, complete plans for the tourney and discuss other business of the league. Vienna high school formally withdrew from the conference. Although everyone present favored an eight-team league, nothing definite was done to fill the vacancy caused by Vienna's resignation.

One of the school principals stated "We all prefer an eight-team conference but want a school close by. We probably would remain a seven-school organization before going a great distance to get the eighth team."

Herschel Wilkinson of West Frankfort and J. D. Cole of Norris City will be tournament officials. Admission will be 25 cents for students and 75 cents for adults. There will be two games each of the four nights, Jan. 17-18-19-20, with the first game starting at 7 o'clock and the second game about 8:30.

Warriors Boost Eastern Lead

By United Press

Neil Johnston, the "old pro" of the National Basketball Assn., proved the difference in the Philadelphia Warriors' latest triumph. The six-foot-eight Johnston, who led the NBA in scoring the last three seasons, netted five points within the final minute and 40 seconds Wednesday night to gain an 88-87 victory for the Warriors over the Syracuse Nationals and boost Philadelphia's Eastern Division lead to two and one-half games.

The 25-year-old former Ohio State star scored 26 points to lead all scorers. He currently is the fifth scorer in the league.

The New York Knickerbockers gained their second win in two nights over the Boston Celtics, 103-86, the Fort Wayne Pistons boosted their Western Division lead to three games by defeating the Rochester Royals, 83-86, and the Minneapolis Lakers downed the St. Louis Hawks, 94-76, in other games.

Clyde Lovellette of the Lakers scored 28 points to move one in front of Bob Pettit of the Hawks in the individual scoring race—652-651.

Snead stroked a 69.86 average per round to take the Vardon Trophy for the fourth time. The 41-year-old expert from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., also won the cup in 1933, 1949 and 1950.

JOIN THE MARCH OF DIMES

"THANKS FOR SAVING MY LIFE"—Mark Gowing, 2, of Dayton, Ohio, smiles appreciatively at the man who saved him from drowning last spring. He's James Auld of Canton, Ohio, who recently received the President's Medal of the National Safety Council for the act. Auld applied artificial respiration after Mark fell into a lake near Canton. He learned the life-saving technique at the Republic Steel plant, where he is a steelworker.

Thursday Church Services Forecast

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pittsburgh minister feels that church-going on Sundays may be outmoded in another 15 years or so, and that services probably will be held on Thursday evenings instead.

The Rev. Irving R. Murray, pastor of the First Unitarian Church, said the change will be brought about by the growth of automation and a resulting increase in the leisure time of the average American.

"By 1970, probably every family will have its own plane," the Rev. Murray said. "Churches fighting the old worn-out battle for the Sabbath 'blue laws' will find themselves increasingly empty."

"Sunday mornings, the members of a church congregation will be flying back from Paris or Hawaii," he said. "It will do no good to try to oppose the inevitable."

The Rev. Murray said it was "arrogant of the churches to assume they have the right to impose the village, agricultural Sabbath of ancient times on modern urban, industrial peoples."

"The church of tomorrow will very possibly put its maximum emphasis on a Thursday evening service," he said.

Tripling of Coal Use for Electric Power Seen by 1975; No Atom Threat

NEW YORK—Atomic energy will not threaten the coal industry's grip on the electric power market for at least 20 years, and possibly never will, Coal Age, McGraw-Hill publication, states in its January issue, out this week.

The bituminous industry, after upping total output 20 per cent to 470 million tons in 1955, goes into 1956 gearing to meet the rapidly expanding power needs of a fast-growing population and a steadily rising standard of living.

If the country's electric power needs are to be met in 1975, the publication states that annual coal use for power alone by that time must climb to 430 million tons. This will be three times current use for electric power and 43 per cent of a projected billion-ton market for all coal uses in 1975.

Coal's grip on the 1975 power market is based on a prediction that the nation will have to triple its generating capacity to 395 million kilowatts by that time. Of this amount, hydro plants will supply about 70 million kilowatts, and nuclear plants perhaps 40 million kilowatts. This leaves a big gap of 285 million kilowatts to be filled by fossil fuels, coal, oil and gas. And coal will retain at least its present 69 per cent of the total fossil-fuel electric power market. See High Cost Nuclear Power

The following factors cut through the "atomic stardust" clouding the real impact of atomic power on the coal industry, according to the magazine:

1. The amount of nuclear power likely to enter the commercial market during the next decade is virtually negligible. But present development programs, if and when they solve the knotty problems involved, could provide the springboard to greater quantities of nuclear power later.
2. No true picture of nuclear power costs exists now. Even when such becomes available, perhaps 10 to 15 years hence, the prospect is slim that nuclear power will be cheaper than fossil-fuel power. The best bets for use will be in high-cost fuel or power-short areas.
3. Utilities have joined reactor development programs to insure ample supplies of fuel to meet the country's long-range power needs. They cannot afford to pass up a supplementary heat source, particularly when talk persists about possible depletion of oil and gas reserves.
4. The critical period for evaluation of nuclear power should come during 1965 to 1970. And what the coal and other fossil-fuel industries do between now and then to fortify their competitive position will be the biggest factor in determining if and how far nuclear power spreads after 1970.
5. In improving its competitive position, coal, compared to gas and oil, has unique advantages in its huge backlog of reserves and in its big potential for reducing mining and delivery costs.
6. Atomic energy may never be competitive with coal and other fossil fuels. An increasing number of analysts see the country's energy demands rising to such magnitude that there will be (a) more energy tasks than fuel supplies and (b) increasing use-speculation and mutual dependence among all fuels.

Since atomic energy is virtually a "freightless fuel," the publication urges the coal industry to put special emphasis on developing new methods or substitutes for transporting coal. Overland pipelines, coal gasification, and the location of industrial plants near mines are cited by the magazine as examples of ways that coal can minimize nuclear power's transport advantage.

Shawneetown to Vote Jan. 7 on Community Unit School District

Saturday, Jan. 7, voters in the Shawneetown high school district, will go to the polls to vote on the proposition to establish a community unit school district to maintain grades one through twelve.

Residents of the Shawneetown high school district have an opportunity to vote on the proposed unit district due to special action during the last session of the Illinois legislature.

Illinois state law provides a community unit must have a population of at least 2,000 and assessed valuation of not less than $6,000,000. However, special legislation allows a Community Unit to be formed in the Shawneetown area with assessed valuation of only $4,900,000.

Those favoring the community unit system point out that there are educational advantages to a unit system, that the tax payers are protected against higher rates and that the district will receive additional money from the State of Illinois.

1. In state aid the community unit would receive $18,916.70 additional without increasing taxes locally.

Mitchell Says Demos Will Carry Southern Illinois

CHICAGO (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell predicts the Democrats will carry southern Illinois this year by at least 25,000 votes more than in 1954.

Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, said Wednesday night he based his prediction on three recent trips to the southern-most 16 counties.

He said he found a "growing trend" toward Democrats "who will make an honest effort to solve the problems of southern Illinois."

Mitchell, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said the economic situation in the area "cries for leadership" by state officials and said he would propose "a broad program to help that area" if nominated.

He said it is "high time that Governor Stratton discovers that 'Egypt' is an important part of Illinois."

Mitchell said the "hard facts" are that due to economic conditions, spending for relief and aid to schools are higher in southern Illinois than in other areas, and there are 30,000 unemployed.

"There is an urgent need for expanded industrial development in southern Illinois to offset the severe decline in mining and farming in that area," he said.

"New or expanding industries are passing over this neglected but meritorious part of our own state to locate new plants and factories across the Ohio river in Kentucky, or go south to Mississippi, or other states."

Revival Services Begin Sunday at Methodist Church

The Rev. H. Gilbert Williams of Haddonfield, New Jersey, has been chosen as the speaker for revival services beginning Sunday, Jan. 8, at the First Methodist church. He is well qualified being a former secretary of Evangelism in the Wesleyan Methodist church of America. He is a member of the Southern Illinois Conference and an approved Methodist evangelist. Rev. Williams' work has embraced many denominations across the United States. He is also in constant demand as a camp meeting evangelist. His messages are scriptural and Christ centered; his preaching is at its best. Rev. Williams conducted services here in Harrisburg at the Methodist church in the fall of 1953 and was an inspiration to all who heard him.

The song leader will be the Rev. Dale Wolcott of Neoga, Ill., a young minister of outstanding personality and ability.

Services will begin each evening at 7 o'clock and will continue through two weeks. An invitation to all members of the Methodist congregation and their friends is extended by the minister, the Rev. W. L. Cummins.

West Frankfort Minister to Realize Dream

Rev. Theron H. King, pastor of the First Baptist church in West Frankfort, today is near realization of a life-long dream following presentation to the minister of a check covering his expenses on a trip to the Holy Land.

The gift came as a complete surprise to Rev. King, who had not known that members of the church and others for several weeks had been contributing to the fund. The presentation was made by Daily McGlasson as the climax to a Christmas Day service in which more than 300 members of the church had walked down the aisles to contribute in excess of $700 to the congregation's annual Lottie Moon offering to missions.

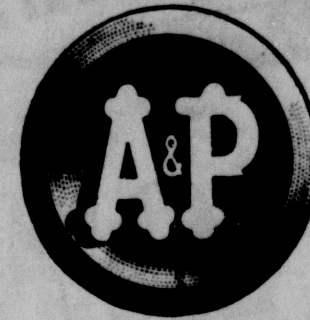

The Holy Land fund was sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of the church, by which invitations had been quietly extended to members of the church and friends of the minister outside the congregation to participate. The goal of $1,500 was oversubscribed and gifts are still coming in.

The minister said he hopes to make the trip "some time this year." He plans, in the meantime, to make a new study of the life of Christ which intensified emphasis on the historic places that were "hallowed by his presence."

Provision for the Holy Land trip marked a high point in the 13-year ministry of Rev. King as pastor of the West Frankfort church. He began his work there in April, 1943.

This is Effective But Don't Try It

LAKE CITY, Mich. — Students in the fifth grade at Lake City school discovered one way to get the afternoon off from studies, but it brought tears to all of their eyes and is not recommended for general use.

A tear gas cylinder disguised as a fountain pen was found by a student who took it to class. He showed it to his teacher, Mrs. Charles Clarkson, and she threw it in the basket believing it was a worthless pen.

Another student retrieved the "pen" and it discharged while he was examining it. Marshal Elmer Burske, who carries such things for possible police use, said he had lost the tear gas cylinder some time ago.

The students, whose eyes smarted from the gas, got the rest of the afternoon off when Mrs. Clarkson sent them outdoors to play until school was dismissed.

Guadalupe, rising to a height of 8751 feet, is the highest mountain in Texas.

TO CONDUCT REVIVAL. Rev. Mode Powell Jr. of Jeffersonville, Ind., and the Indiana Conference, will conduct an evangelistic campaign in the First Methodist church in Equality beginning Jan. 18 and continuing through Jan. 29. Rev. Powell is a graduate of the McKendree college and also of Asbury Seminary of Wilmore, Ky. He is a forceful preacher. There will be special interests each evening beginning at 7 p. m. Rev. E. W. Fox, pastor, extends a cordial invitation to the public.

Chances Seven Out of Nine Qualified Youths Will Be In Uniform Before Age 26

WASHINGTON — About 1,200,000 youths will come of military age this year. What are their chances of seeing military service?

During the year only about 1 out of 4 of this "new crop" will go into regular or reserve units. But the chances are about 7 out of 9 that the qualified youths will be put in uniform sometime before they reach age 26—either voluntarily or involuntarily.

Such odds do not jibe with the popular impression. With draft cards falling to the lowest level since the start of the Korean War, many youths seem to have come to the conclusion that the odds are in favor of escaping military service altogether.

Here is how the Defense Department experts figure the odds by placing the number of men needed by the military during the year versus the number qualified for military service:

During the coming year, about 1,200,000 youths will turn 18½—the military draft age. Of this group about 240,000 will be disqualified for military service on physical, mental or moral grounds.

That leaves 960,000 fit and ready for military duty. And during the coming year the military expects to take in 700,000 persons from civilian life—either through draft or enlistment—to meet their manpower needs. Thus the 7 in 9 odds. It is true that most of the 700,000 to be taken in this year will come from older age groups. But the odds will catch up with the new crop in future years.

Defense manpower experts conceded that the probability is that the 18½ year old will not be drafted immediately. Draft boards now are inducting men at an average age of between 22 and 23, and in some states the age has gone up over 24.

With the present odds that a youth will see military service, how can he fulfill his military obligation? The new Reserve Law passed by Congress last summer opened up several avenues of military service. Here are the principal ones:

Draft—Be drafted for two years followed by three years' participation in the Ready Reserve. Ready Reserve participation consists of attending 48 weekly drills plus two weeks annual training, or 30 days' annual training.

Enlist—Enlist in one of the services before receiving induction notice. The enlistments run from three to six years. The enlistees must serve a total of five years on active duty and in the Ready Reserve.

Six-Month Reserve Program—

Volunteer before reaching 18½ for six months active duty followed by 7½ years in the Ready Reserve.

Reserves—Enlist in the National Guard before 18½ and serve in the Guard until age 28. This term of duty can be reduced to eight years by taking six months active duty.

Student Deferments—Obtain an academic deferment through Selective Service examinations. Deferred students still have an obligation to serve after completion of studies, with the obligation extending until age 35. College students can enroll in the ROTC and obtain a commission with the provision that they must serve at least two years on active duty or six months active duty and 7½ years in the Ready Reserve.

Consolidation and centralization of administration of stores in this area, Engle explained, has been made to provide improved service for customers.

These stores which are being transferred from Terre Haute will be supervised by William F. Jarrles, who will continue as area manager, with headquarters in Evansville, Ind. He will be assisted by Oliver Furgerson, also of Evansville.

Additional key personnel to be transferred to the Carbondale branch from Terre Haute, include:

Carl Conrad, produce merchandiser; Kenneth Owens, work methods supervisor; Jim Brosche, meat sales promotion; and William Mullens, produce sales assistant. Mr. Conrad will replace Charles Clodfelter, as produce merchandiser, and Mr. Clodfelter will be assigned other merchandising duties. Mr. Mullens will likewise replace Mr. Bill Beatty, produce sales assistant, whose new appointment will be announced later.
